

All Watched Over by Machines of Loving Grace

Poem by Richard Brautigan (1935–1984)

Music by Faré (1973–)

Allegro

F#m Bm

I like to think (and the soo - ner the bet - ter!)

A A+

I like to think (and the soo - ner the bet - ter!)

F#m Bm

I like to think (and the soo - ner the bet - ter!)

F#° F#m

of a cy - ber - ne - tic mea - dow

F#°

where mammals and computers live to - gether in mu - tu - ally pro - gram - ming har - mony

F#m

where mammals and computers live together in mutually programming harmony

like pure wa - ter tou - ching clear sky.

I like to think (right now, please!) I like to think (right now, please!)

I like to think (right now, please!) of a cy-ber-ne-tic fo- rest filled with pines and e-lec-tro-nics where deer stroll peace-ful-ly past com-pu-tors

as if they were flo-wers with spin-ning blos-soms.

I like to think (it has to be!) of a cy-ber-ne-tic e-co-lo-gy where we are free of our la-bors and joined back to na-ture, re-turned to our mam-mal brothers and sis-ters, and all watched o-ver

by machines of loving grace... and all watched o-ver by machines of loving grace.